

Screening of the 1972 film A Fortunate Man in Soudley, where some of it was shot featuring local extras – introduced by its director Jeff Perks

Exhibition, screenings, talks and discussions at St Briavels – the village at the heart of the book and home to Dr John Eskill , the book’s “Dr Sassall”.

Putting names to the faces in the book

Discussion Panellists: local councillor Dave Kent; journalist and University of Gloucestershire academic James Derounian; discussion chair Joanna Durrant of BBC Radio Gloucestershire; GP and author Dr Chris Nancollas, Dr Julia Peck snr lecturer photography University of Gloucestershire.

Guided history tour around St Briavels led by local residents, and visiting doctors inspired by the book with neighbour and friend of the Eskells (first in from left).

Viewing archive cine films of the village made by Eskell

Villagers' memories of Eskell through audio slide shows

